

Method and apparatus for implementing a computer user interface comprising of a representation of a plurality of nodes within a three dimensional space. Nodes may contain links to information sources which can be static files or information streams. User can manipulate nodes and information sources and can navigate within the three dimensional space. In one embodiment, the user interface can be applied as an alternative to conventional computer desktops.